Tuesday, 28 June 2022

Last night, Yuliana Antonova-Murata presented her latest book "San San, Japan" to Dimitrovgrad audience at the local City Library. Dozens of fans of the author came to the meeting to listen her inspiring stories about the worldview of the Japanese and their relationship, with autographs from the author. Yuliana Antonova-Murata, who has lived in the land of the rising sun for nearly 30 years, is a diplomat with three terms at the Bulgarian embassy in Tokyo. She told the audience many different examples of Japanese culture and mentality, as well as the extremely respectful attitude they have towards Bulgarians.

Earlier, she visited the mayor of Dimitrovgrad, Mr Ivo Dimov, who shared about the meeting on his Facebook profile. He has the idea to cooperate Dimitrovgrad in various areas with a Japanese city with a similar profile.

Yuliana Antonova-Murata has the talent to recreate life in Japan delicately, sophisticatedly and intriguingly, turning her works into real bestsellers.

Being extremely active in social networks, Yuliana Antonova-Murata meets her reading followers personally around the country to share the third part of her trilogy. She is in Bulgaria for only a month and Dimitrovgrad is one of the few cities, included in her program. The author presents Japanese culture as a true master of verbal fine art. Each of her stories reveals to the reader the mysteries of Japanese society, built on the principles of self-respect, duty, love and education.

Yuliana Antonova-Murata graduated German Language High School in Sofia and German philology at Sofia University. She was a lecturer at the Medical University. As a longtime diplomat and wife of a Japanese man, she has the opportunity to live in different parts of the world - Germany, Russia, England, and China. She has diplomatic specializations in India and Croatia. Her heart remains forever in Japan, where she lives with her family. She is cosmopolitan lady - Bulgarian by patriotism and Japanese in spirit.
